

Lacuna was conceived by three well seasoned wine professionals. We have held positions as wine consultants, sommeliers, importers, brand managers & wine brokers but this is our first venture into creating our own wine. After a few years working closely with Morgan Twain-Peterson of Bedrock Wine Co., our admiration for his wines and philosophy lead us to believe he would be the ideal person to make our wine. He was kind enough to agree.

LACUNA 2010 Red Wine, California

(58% Syrah, 42% Petite Sirah)

ph 3.48

alc %14.3

Unfiltered

This vintage has been sourced from three revered vineyards in California. The Syrah components come from two very cool sites that differ greatly in character but exude equally amazing quality. One site planted to the Alban selection lends a dominant smoky, dried beef aromatic and a bacon fat rich texture that we absolutely fawn over. The other Syrah site compliments by lifting the brooding load. Adding higher tones of blueberry fruit and violet aromatics this second windswept vineyard contributes a hint of delicacy. The Petite Sirah element comes from an ancient vineyard originally planted before the turn of the century. This fruit adds the framework we desire and pulls the fruit elements of the wine towards the back of the palate. The wine was aged for 10 months in Daranjou and Hermitage French Oak barrels, 20% of which were new.

The 2010 is a slightly more powerful vintage than our first effort, yet its power does not overwhelm the great layers of flavor that seem to peel away in strata. In its current youth, the roasted meat and smoke seem to dominate the aromas and palate making it a fabulous pair to lamb and grilled beef or game. With more oxygen the floral aspects present themselves and the wine gains elegance which will also occur with more bottle age. We feel this vintage has ample structure to age beautifully. 584 cases produced.

We hope LACUNA will grace your table.
